President's Message - Clark Bordner

I spoke last month about our tomato tree. For the last two weeks, it has been in full production. Not only do we have a distinct variation in colors and shapes; the tastes are unique for each type. I hope that these plants are still producing for the next two weeks. The tomatoes would be good entries in the horticultural show. It seems as though there is an element of luck in having entries for this show that are at their peak. Cheryl and I certainly look forward to the competition and seeing the best this area has to offer from our club members.

Sam Morlan has volunteered to take over the Youth gardening committee from Al Eddy. Al has done a superb job and Sam has assisted him on many of the projects in this very important area; most notably Arrowhead school. I look forward to working with Sam in youth gardening. We still need someone to volunteer to be the chairperson for the Strawberry festival in June of next year. Marti Williams has made this event one of the highlights of the year and I am sure that she would be willing to advise the new chairperson for the continued success of this festival. If you want to get involved in a worthwhile activity and use your organizational abilities, this position is for you! Please contact any officer if you are interested.

Cheryl and I had the distinct pleasure of attending the summer conference of our regional gardening club. Leroy Hart and Sam Morlan planned the activities for this two day series of events and did a wonderful job. There were 39 participants and one third hailed from our club. This conference was centered in Amish country in Holmes County. I cannot possibly tell you about everything we did in this short letter, however, it was all fantastic! The first day we took a bus tour to Secrest Arboretum and walked through their beautiful gardens. This facility is located on the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster. This area is recovering from a devastating tornado that struck last September. Little did we know that we would have a first hand experience with Mother Nature later on that day. We next went to Lehman's Hardware in Kidron; which is the Amish equivalent to Home Depot. As we arrived; dark storm clouds were approaching from the west and we thought that we were going to experience a bad storm. It never rained there even though we heard thunder. We felt fortunate to have escaped the wrath of the storm.

Our next stop in Charm was for dinner with an Amish family at their home. This village is probably five to ten miles south of Kidron. As we approached Charm we noticed leaves scattered and trees blown down. The road that we had to travel was narrow to begin with and how the bus driver negotiated it is beyond me. The closer we got to the home where we were to eat; the more damage we saw. When we arrived at our destination, a large tree had been blown down that did damage to their shed and landed right next to their house. The Amish couple and two grandchildren proceeded with dinner as though nothing had happened. In fact we were treated to guitar playing and singing by their grandson. The family made this a truly enjoyable experience even though the community had suffered significant damage from the storm.

We later found out that either a tornado or very strong straight line winds had caused all of the damage. The storm struck about an hour before we arrived. We were all amazed to see the people band together to clear up the remnants of the storm. Upon reflection, I drew a correlation between what we saw with the Amish and the many acts of generosity and kindness exhibited by our club membership. Most notably to me, is the teamwork and hard work shown by our members at Habitat for Humanity homes. We can be very proud of our membership and what we do for our community in all of our varied activities. It is my honor to serve as your president. Best regards, Clark

Hints about Cheese

Cheese can be frozen by leaving it in its protective wraps or if it has been opened wrap it tightly with saran wrap. Wrap it in newspaper or freezer wrap to keep it from getting freezer burn. To thaw the cheese take it out of the freezer and put it in the refrigerator for two to three days to keep it from crumbling. Cheese may be frozen for up to six months.

If traveling long distances for more than two days with cheese keep it in a cooler or thermal bag.

Some question - Will cheese keep during hot summer days? The answer is yes, if some simple instructions are followed. Have the cheeses double wrapped if traveling for more than two days. If the car has air conditioning keep the cheese up front where it is cooler. If traveling more than three days without air conditioning it is advisable to use an ice chest. Do not put cheese in the trunk, this would be the hottest place.

This information was provided by Heini's Cheese Chalet in Sugarcreek. This was one of the places we visited during the regional summer conference.

(Editor's note - I never keep cheese around long enough to have this kind of problem. At Heini's I have a favorite, Chocolate cheese. It is cream cheese with chocolate added ,five different varieties.
